SPECIALLY PREPARED ANTHRACITE COAL

For Use In Small and Medium Sized Steam, Hot Water and Hot Air Heaters

On account of conditions surrounding the mining of Anthracite Coal, we have been definitely informed by the Operators that certain sizes of coal heretofore known as Commercial Fuel, will hereafter take the domestic classification, and in order to procure a fixed ratio of all sizes produced, a certain percentage of these commercial sizes must be used for household purposes.

Providing for this exigency the experts of this Company have been conducting a series of experiments and have now produced a mixture of certain sizes which is giving the most pronounced satisfaction to our customers who have used it.

- It Combines the Following Attractive Features:
- It Lowers the Price Per Ton.
- It Is More Economical In Use.
- It Produces the Most Excellent Heating Results.
- It Requires Less Attention at the Hands of the User.

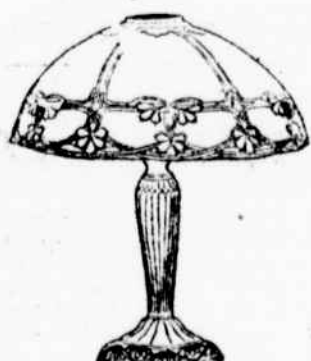

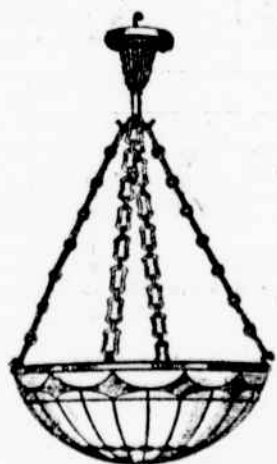

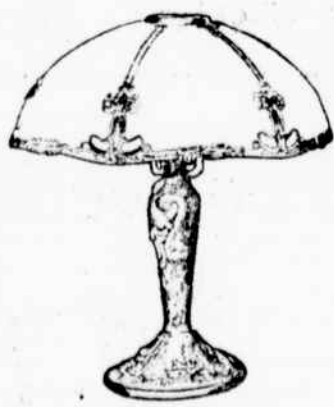

An opportunity is therefore afforded you to economize on the present high price at which Anthracite coal is now being sold.

ADMIRAL PUTS BAN ON "ZULU" HAIRCUT

U. S. Sailors Denied Shore Leave If Locks Are Trimmed "Tango" Style.

BOSTON, Dec. 19.—The Christmas leave of the men of the navy in this district is endangered by the fashion in hair cuts.

Insistence that the personnel maintain a uniformity of aspect in all outward details brought a ban today by Rear Admiral Herbert O. Dunn, commandant of the First district, on the tenuous style of the moment that is known variously as the "Zulu," the "Tango" or the "Grizzly Bear." The commandant took notice of the fashion that resembles the scalplock of the Indians behind and his bangs in front long enough to cover the eyes in a formal order invoking the service regulations on the subject.

The regulations provide that the hair shall be "neatly trimmed" and forbid eccentricities. All commandants in the First Naval District are directed to order inspection of liberty parties and to allow no men to leave the service ships and stations whose hair is not in proper trim.
